

How the slide appears in Storyline [“Preview this slide”]

The screenshot shows a presentation slide within a Storyline interface. On the left, a 'Notes' panel contains text about belief and empirical generalisation. The main slide area features a dark blue header with 'EY New Zealand DIPLOMA IN TAX', 'AUG-24 Slide 1', and the title 'Belief and empirical generalisation'. The EY logo is in the top right. The slide content compares 'BELIEF' (in a blue box with a red 'X') and 'EMPIRICAL GENERALISATION' (in a green box with a red 'X'). Below 'BELIEF' is a yellow box listing: 'personal views', 'the way it “should be”', and '“gut” feeling'. Below 'EMPIRICAL GENERALISATION' is a light green box listing: 'inductive reasoning' and 'inference made from observation'. A green arrow points from the empirical generalisation box up to its title. The bottom of the slide has a navigation bar with a progress bar, a refresh icon, a mute icon, and 'PREV' and 'NEXT' buttons.

Menu Notes

Topic 2 - Part 2 - Presentation

Resources | Close Presentation

EY New Zealand
DIPLOMA IN TAX

AUG-24
Slide 1

Belief and empirical generalisation

EY Building a better working world

BELIEF X

- personal views
- the way it “should be”
- “gut” feeling

EMPIRICAL GENERALISATION X

- ▶ inductive reasoning
- ▶ inference made from observation

|| [Progress Bar] [Refresh] [Mute] [PREV] [NEXT]

How the slide appears in Reach360 [after being published and viewed on the internet]

The screenshot shows a presentation slide titled "Belief and empirical generalisation" from EY New Zealand. The slide is part of a "DIPLOMA IN TAX" course, dated "JAN-25", and is slide 35. The slide content compares two approaches to analysis:

- BELIEF (marked with a red X):
  - personal views
  - the way it "should be"
  - "gut" feeling
- EMPIRICAL GENERALISATION (marked with a red X):
  - inductive reasoning
  - inference made from observation

The slide also features a navigation bar at the top with "Resources" and "Close Presentation" links, and a footer with a progress bar, a refresh icon, a volume icon, and "PREV" and "NEXT" buttons. The EY logo is in the top right corner.

The text in the Notes panel is magnified i.e. the text is at least 3 times the size of the original text.